

COACHING SESSION SUMMARY CARD

1. Session Metadata

- Date: 2026-05-25
 - Session ID: 1
 - Leader Name: ICM Implementation Lead

2. Fast Recall Block (Pre-Action Reference)

- Current Transition Stage: Stage 4 — Experimentation. Team is actively engaged and curious about ICM but anchored by unresolved job security fears. No formal role structures yet exist to signal their future value inside the transformation.
 - Core Discovery: Sharing possibilities is not the same as making commitments. The absence of formally named roles was the direct source of the team's job security anxiety. Structural proof — not reassurance — is what accelerates this team toward Integration.
 - Critical Commitments: 1. Meet with HR to formalize the ICM Champion and Business Processes Champion roles, including individual objectives and budget allocation. | Deadline: This week 2. Formally announce both roles to the full team, naming the two targeted candidates. | Deadline: Early next week 3. Organize a structured workshop for the team to voice concerns and co-author an ICM engagement plan with a list of action items and follow-up sessions. | Deadline: Contingency if HR meeting is delayed
 - Behavioral Guardrail: Avoid framing role announcements as informal or temporary. If the HR conversation yields no formal budget or objectives, do not announce the roles — an empty title will damage credibility faster than silence.

3. Continuity and Accountability Block (Follow-Up Tracking)

- Resistance Mapping: No significant deflection detected. Leader demonstrated strong preparation and proactive ownership throughout the session. Primary friction was the gap between verbal reassurance and structural action, now identified and addressed.
- Accountability Benchmarks: Next session must open with confirmation that the HR meeting occurred, the ROI argument was presented, and at least one of the two role structures (objectives or budget) was formally approved.
- Open Focus Areas:
 - Workshop design and ground rules for the structured venting session.

- Long-term advocacy team expansion beyond the initial two champions.
- Tracking whether the co-authored engagement plan feeds visibly back into implementation decisions.
